

HILLEL STEINMETZ

I transform difficult ideas into content that engages and informs. I have a modest programming background, which I use to find creative solutions to everyday challenges. I love to learn, and often spend my free time reading, browsing Wikipedia, or watching Jeopardy.

SKILLS

Computer Programming,
Statistical Analysis, Market
Research, Writing, Editing

PROGRAMMING LANGUAGES

R, HTML, JavaScript (basic),
Python (intermediate)

SOFTWARE

Excel, Qualtrics, SPSS

LANGUAGES

Hebrew (fluent)
French (working proficiency)

EDUCATION

The University of Chicago
Bachelor of Arts, June 2019
Major: Linguistics
GPA: 3.92/4.00
Honors and Grants:
Phi Beta Kappa
Leonard Bloomfield Prize in Linguistics

EXPERIENCE

Data Journalist

Saggezza | 10/2020 – Present

- Supported a marketing campaign by creating 60+ articles, one-pagers, and presentations communicating the value of the firm's data & analytics services
- Engaged prospective clients through workshops to understand client challenges and propose solutions

Research Assistant

University of Chicago Department of Psychology | 06/2019 – 08/2020

- Spearheaded the production of two experiments and aided in the development of two others
- Discovered a novel effect of language on social cognition by collecting and analyzing data from 150+ participants using R
- Researched language, social cognition, and wisdom by designing online and in-lab studies using Qualtrics, Inquisit, and other software
- Facilitated lab operations; resolved technical issues and onboarded new graduate and undergraduate research assistants

Undergraduate Research Assistant

University of Chicago Department of Psychology | 02/2018 – 09/2019

- Designed two computer-based experiments and created interactive behavioral measures using psychology software; collected and edited 120+ images and sounds for experimental stimuli; modified audio in linguistic software
- Presented research findings at a symposium after analyzing large data sets using Excel, R, and SPSS

LEADERSHIP AND ENGAGEMENT

Editor-In-Chief, Makom | 8/2018 – 9/2019

Associate Editor, The Chicago Maroon | 10/2015 – 3/2017